

TANZANIA

ALEX HUNTER SAFARIS

GETTING THERE	Tanzania has two major international airports; for the northern circuits, Kilimanjaro International Airport and for the southern circuits and Zanzibar, Dar es Salaam's Julius Nyerere International Airport. There are various domestic airports and airfields connecting all major towns and safari destinations, and to other destinations in Africa. Depending on your arrival time you may have to overnight before catching your connecting flight to your first safari camp the next day. We would recommend booking your flights online in order to get the best rates. If you need any help or advice please let us know. All of your domestic and small charter flights, which are used to travel between the various camps in Tanzania, are included in the cost of your safari. From the moment that you land in Tanzania you will be greeted and escorted onto your connecting transfer to your first camp and you will be looked after from that point on until you are transferred back to the airport in time for your departure flight.
VISAS	Visas are required by almost all nationalities visiting Tanzania and generally cost between USD 50 to 100. To determine whether you require a visa to enter Tanzania, please contact the Tanzanian Embassy in your home country. Visas can be obtained in advance of departure or applied for at one of the main ports of international entry to Tanzania. If obtained on entry, visas must be paid for in USD cash. Please check all visa requirements carefully before you travel as regulations change frequently. To find out more, please click here Entry requirements: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. a passport that is valid for a minimum of 6 months beyond your intended departure date and with 2 blank consecutive pages2. onward travel documents Yellow fever: For all vaccinations, please consult a medical professional at least 6 weeks before your date of departure. Yellow fever vaccination is required for travellers arriving from countries with risk of yellow fever transmission and certificates are required at your point of entry although the rules change regularly so we would strongly advise you to check with your medical professional and Tanzanian embassy for further information.

WHEN TO GO	Here is a broad guide to the climate of Tanzania, although remember that this comes from records and experience, not from a crystal ball.. Just south of the equator, Tanzania is huge and its sheer size means that the climate varies considerably within it. However, generally the main rainy season, or the 'long rains', lasts during about March, April and May. Afternoon tropical downpours are the norm, which are heavier and more predictable beside the coast and on the islands. The humidity is high and daily temperatures reach the low-mid 30°s. The long dry season lasts throughout June, July, August, September and October is when rainfall is unusual, even on the islands. Temperatures vary hugely with altitude and location, but it's usually a fine, clear sky and sunny weather, it's a great time to visit Tanzania. During November and December there's another rainy season: the 'short rains'. These are much lighter than the main rains and less reliable. If it has rained during the short rains, then it normally dries up for a few months, January and February, which is Tanzania's 'short dry season', before starting to rain again in earnest in March.
HEALTH AND SAFETY	Please consult your local doctor and also check with your health department prior to departure for any changes in health regulations. This is a guideline only. Vaccinations: Please consult your doctor for their recommendations and your previous vaccination history. Please also refer to the following as a useful guide. Malaria: Malaria is present in Tanzania and it is strongly advisable to take malaria prophylactics before, during and after your visit. Please consult a medical professional regarding which prophylactics will be suitable for you. In addition, please take precautionary measures to reduce the risk of being bitten by mosquitoes: use insect repellent, sleep under a mosquito net and wear a long-sleeved shirt and long trousers with closed shoes in the evenings. Yellow Fever: Yellow Fever vaccination is required for travellers who are arriving from, or have transited through, countries with risk of yellow fever transmission. As this requirement does frequently change, especially when transiting through South Africa, we would recommend having a certificate to ensure that you do not experience any problems at the border. Insurance:It is a condition of booking, that you carry the correct comprehensive travel and medical insurance to cover yourself, as well as any dependents or travelling companions for the duration of your trip to Africa. This insurance should include cover in respect of, but not limited to, the following eventualities: Compulsory Insurance <ol style="list-style-type: none"> a. emergency evacuation expenses, b. medical expenses, c. repatriation expenses, Recommended Insurance: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> a. cancellation or curtailment of trip, b. damage/theft/loss of personal luggage, money and goods

CLIMATE	Just south of the equator, Tanzania is huge and its sheer size means that the climate varies considerably within it. However, generally the main rainy season, or the 'long rains', lasts during about March, April and May. Afternoon tropical downpours are the norm, which are heavier and more predictable beside the coast and on the islands. The humidity is high and daily temperatures reach the low-mid 30s. The long dry season lasts throughout June, July, August, September and October is when rainfall is unusual, even on the islands. Temperatures vary hugely with altitude and location, but it's usually a fine, clear sky and sunny weather – it's a great time to visit Tanzania. During November and December there's another rainy season: the 'short rains'. These are much lighter than the main rains and less reliable. If it has rained during the short rains, then it normally dries up for a few months, January and February, which is Tanzania's 'short dry season', before starting to rain again in earnest in March.
DRESS CODE	Modest clothing is advisable in the bigger towns and cities in Tanzania, however in the lodges and camps and on the beaches at the coast, it is perfectly fine to wear shorts and shirts or beach wear. Generally speaking, light layers of clothing in neutral safari colours of green, khaki and beige are the best items to bring with you, as well as a warmer jacket or fleece for the colder evenings. A hat is also a must have! Dark colours such as navy or black can attract tsetse flies and are best avoided, as are bright colours like yellow, red and purple if you are going on safari.
LUGGAGE	Many international airlines have a baggage allowance of 20 kgs or more per person, but please check this with your individual airline. Please be advised that on domestic scheduled flights, luggage is limited to one soft sided bag per person with a maximum weight of 15kg. No hardshell bags are permitted.
MONEY	Tanzania's currency is the Tanzanian shilling (TZS). Most camps and lodges charge in US Dollars; very few now accept travellers' cheques, although most accept credit cards (Visa or MasterCard) but may charge a fee to do so. Buying Tanzania's currency in Europe or America can be difficult; many visitors will wait until they arrive in Tanzania to buy local currency. IMPORTANT: When bringing foreign currency (e.g. USD, GBP, EUR) into the country, be sure to have the new format with no damage or marks.
TIPPING	We must stress that tipping is not compulsory or expected; rather it is an extra reward for excellent service. If you are pleased with the service you receive you are more than welcome to tip your guide or the staff in the various lodges and camps. As a guideline for tipping your guide and the staff, you can leave between USD 10 to 15 per traveller per day. Tipping is usually done at the end of your safari and most lodges and camps have a tip box in the main area. You may tip the staff individually, place a tip for all the staff in the box or do both. Tips can be made in Tanzanian Shillings or US Dollars.

WHAT TO PACK

Layers - long and short sleeve shirts and trousers
A warm fleece or jumper
A lightweight waterproof jacket
Comfortable but sturdy shoes
Flip-flops or sandals
Swimming costume and kikoi (Kenyan sarong)
A hat or baseball cap and sunglasses
Sunscreen - a must!
Toiletries - most camps will provide shampoo, shower gel and soap
A small torch
Spare batteries, plug adaptors and charging equipment
A good pair of binoculars and a camera
Books or a fully loaded Kindle / iPad for siesta time

For chimp trekking in the Mahale Mountains:

Good sturdy hiking boots which have been well worn-in
Good thick socks (to be worn with boots when wearing boots in)
Garden gloves - to protect your hands from nettles
Rain jacket
Long-sleeved shirt
Energy snacks
Cameras and extra batteries
Hat and sunglasses
Pair of binoculars
Hiking day pack

For Kilimanjaro treks:

1 x 50 to 70 litre ruck sack and 1 x dry bag liner
1 x daypack (20-40 litres)
1 x Goretex Jacket or equivalent (an umbrella is handy too!)
1 x Goretex waterproof pants or equivalent
1 x down jacket
1 x warm fleece top (add a second if you don't have a down jacket)
1 x hiking trousers
3 x breathable t-shirts
1 x base layer top (breathable underlayer)
1 x base layer bottoms (breathable long johns)
5 x hiking socks (warm)
1 x warm hat (balaclava, beanie)
1 x warm insulate gloves
1 x hiking boots (preferable Goretex)
1 x head torch and spare batteries
1 x fleece pillow case (not essential but makes your sleep more comfortable)
1 x sleeping bag (3-4 season: must be rated to -15 degrees C) and sleeping bag liner
2 x telescopic trekking poles (not essential, but help a lot)
1 x pair gaiters
1 x sun hat and sunglasses
1 x camera and spare batteries
1 x water bottle or hiking bladder (Camelbak)
Personal toiletries

PLEASE NOTE: Plastic bags are banned and carry a fine if brought into the country.
Make sure you leave your bags on the aeroplane upon arrival